G.G. Coote, M.P., Places Before Federal House Need for Subvention

Suggests Royal Commission to Enquire Into Coal Industry of Alberta

A subsidy for Alberta coal shipped east to Manitoba, as an aid to employment in the Alberta coal fields, was urged in the House of Commons by C. G. Coote, U.F.A., Macleod.

He said there was much unemployment in the mines, and it was aggravated by the policy of the government in working the mines at high pressure during short seasons of the year, in order to fill the annual requirements of the railways. In addition to a subsidy, he suggested the government should call a conference between the railways, the mine owners and the miners' unions to work out some scheme by which the orders of the railway companies for coal could be spread over the whole year. In this way employment in the coal mines could be stabilized.

Operator Handicapped
The western coal operator faced the handicap of heavy freight rates on eastbound coal to Winnipeg. Referring to the requirements of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Mr. Coote said that they would be half a million tons less than last year. In view of that, it was absolutely necessary to grant the coal industry a subvention for at least three years in order to allow Canadian bituminous coal to establish itself in Winnipeg.

Mr. Coote suggested that a Royal Commission be organized in order to inquire into the coal industry. Such a proposal had the support of the all-Canadian Congress of Labor and the Mine Workers' Union of Canada. There was real distress among the coal miners. In one part of Alberta the men were so poverty stricken they could not pay for the milk delivered for their children.

Federal Matter
Mr. Coote felt that the responsibility fell primarily on the Dominion government, rather than the provincial. The conditions were brought about largely by the immigration policy of the government, for a large number of these miners came to Canada as agricultural workers. The debate is continuing.

"MEXICALI ROSE" VIVID DEPICTION BORDER LIFE

Fine Realistic Film With Capable Cast and Good Story.

"Mexicali Rose," the Columbia all-talking drama of love and revenge, which opened at the Palace Theatre last night is a vivid and accurate account of life on the Mexican border. Sam Hardy and Barbara Stanwyck appear in the featured roles. Eric C. Kenton directed this colorful picture. The plot revolves round "Happy" Manning, hardboiled gambler, who is not too hardboiled to have a soft spot in his heart for his younger brother, Bob. "Happy" sends Bob to college and believes he has put him safely on the road to a happy career when he learns that "Mexicali Rose," one of his own discarded sweethearts, has lured the boy into marriage. The gambler does his best to adjust matters—but meets with a tragic result.

"Crow" Route Will be Tested for Air Mail Service to Pacific Coast

Local Board of Trade Advises Post Office Dept. They Will Co-operate in Providing Facilities.

The establishment of a test air mail service between Lethbridge and Vancouver through the Crow's Nest Pass will be undertaken by the postmaster general's department during June, July and August, and the department has called upon prominent air companies for tenders on the run.

Immediately on receipt of the news, President Halliwell of the Board of Trade sent messages to W. Lee Brint-

THEATRE NOTES

Winnie Lightner, the versatile comedienne who made such a hit in the "Gold Diggers," delighted audiences this week at the Palace in "She Couldn't Say No." Her singing and mimicry were exceptionally good, and another favorite who was recently seen in "The Desert Song" was Johnny Arthur, who vainly fell in love with Winnie.

nell, operating manager of Western Canada Airways, and Postmaster Graham advised the district post office inspector that Coleman would co-operate in providing facilities at the emergency landing field west of town, and pointed out that as there is a population in this group of towns sufficient to develop considerable air mail business, that Coleman be considered as a port of call. It is hoped to have definite announcement in connection with the Crow air route very shortly.

ON DIRECT AIR ROUTE

That the Crow's Nest Pass would be used as the direct air mail route to the Pacific coast was almost a foregone conclusion, and the announcement that a three months' test service will operate in June, July and August is of importance. Coleman Board of Trade should extend co-operation in providing facilities in having this place specified as a point for the arrival and despatch of air mail. The emergency landing field west of town has been pronounced satisfactory by fliers.

With a population of ten thousand people in the group of towns in this section of the Pass, and with head offices of four coal companies, besides other business concerns, Coleman can certainly present claims to be included on the air mail route. In ten years a town not on the air mail will be somewhat similar to the town without a good highway leading into it.

SOME AIR SERVICE

As we go to press we learn that Inspector Lough of Winnipeg has completed arrangements to have railway mail clerks work Winnipeg city mail on the aeroplanes before reaching the city. According to insurance company figures the average life of the new class of mail clerks will be two years, and already Inspector Lough has received applications from the wives of nearly all the married mail clerks of Winnipeg to have their husbands transferred to the air-mail service.—Postmaster.

Speaking on Canada's stake in the Pacific before the Montreal Canadian Club recently, Hon. Newton W. Rowell, vice-chairman of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, took occasion to compliment Canadian Pacific Steamships on their work on that ocean. He said: "There are many lines of steamships plying between North America to the Orient and one of the best is still the Canadian Pacific Steamship; there is no other freight and passenger service on the Pacific that to-day is equal to that of the Canadian Pacific Company. We owe a great deal to that institution in developing trade."

Visiting sportsmen coming to New Brunswick for hunting and fishing have almost doubled in the past five years, according to figures given out by Hon. G. H. Prince, Deputy Minister of Lands and Mines of the province.

Additional air mail service was inaugurated between Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton early in March by the Canadian Post Office Department, leaving only the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific Coast and from western Ontario to Winnipeg unserved by air mail. It is expected that at least a portion of this territory will be linked during the coming summer.

Preparations are being made for taking another decennial census in Canada which is due in 1931. The census will give employment to 15,000 persons. It was first taken in 1871 and has been taken every ten years since then.

M. M. Robinson, chairman of the committee of management of the British Empire Games, to be held at Hamilton next August, is already assured of the success of the meeting. Interviewed aboard S.S. "One of the objects of the visit of the English public school headmasters party, due to arrive at Saint John aboard S.S. It will consist of 15 headmasters and they will visit nine Canadian universities from the Maritimes to British Columbia.

Accepting regular radio programmes made outside the United States for the first time, National Broadcasting Company of New York has come to an agreement with the Canadian Pacific Railway under which the latter will supply WJZ, and associated stations in the richest and most thickly populated sections of the United States, with programmes of Canadian Pacific "cheerful and good" music. These will be broadcast Sunday evenings from 9:15 to 9:45, Eastern standard time, commencing April 6.—A second series will be broadcast by the American company from its stations consisting of Royal York Hotel orchestra dance music every Wednesday midnight, Eastern standard time, commencing April 9.

Boys in Uniform Present Smart Appearance at Presentation of Badges.

Last evening Mr. O. E. S. Whiteside, honorary president of the Coleman Boy Scouts Association, formally presented the Scout badges to the boys who have passed the qualifying tests.

Prior to the presentation a supper was served, at which were present besides the Scouts their parents and a number of guests, following which a short address was made by Mr. Whiteside and the acting scoutmaster H. T. Halliwell, who stated that the credit for the progress of the troop since it was re-organized in November was due to Mr. Harold Turner, assistant scoutmaster, who had been enthusiastic and faithful in not only instructing the Scouts, but in arranging the details of the whist drives by which the Scouts raised the money to purchase their uniforms.

The boys, in their natty uniforms of dark green and blue, with brightly colored handkerchiefs, and the well-known world over Scout hat, stepped up briskly as their names were called, and were presented with their badges and enrolment certificates.

Their names were Lorenzo Richards, George Smad, Robert Borden, Harold Nelson, Nich. Nicholas, Laurie Josephs, Allan Short, Joe D'Appolina, Ellis Derbyshire, Arthur Gardiner, Wilfred Hoyle, Dennis Gady, Vincent Janosak.

Several ladies who assisted in the preparation of the supper were given a hearty vote of thanks for their splendid service.

The executive of the association is S. Howarth, president; A. F. Short, vice-president; H. Turner, secretary; they being elected at a meeting of the Scouts on April 2 when a vote of thanks was passed to the retiring secretary, Rev. A. D. Carrie, and to Mrs. Hancock, Mrs. Blower and Mrs. Rushton for their work in behalf of the Scouts.

Musical Festival Arouses Interest

Annual Festival of Crow's Nest Pass Musical Association Opens Easter Monday.

The annual musical festival will open at Blairmore on Easter Monday and continue for the two following days. This is always an event of great interest throughout the Pass and competitors enter from Macleod to Fernie, thus creating interest through a wide stretch of territory.

The evening programs particularly are interesting, while the morning and afternoon hold possibly just as keen interest for the competitors. The crowning session is the wind-up on the third evening, when the opera house is filled to capacity, and at which the presentation of prizes is made.

Communist Propaganda Endeavors to Agitate Strike in Miners' Ranks

Paid Agents of Organization Seek to Foment Movement to Destroy Mine Workers Union

During the past two weeks agitators have been mixing with workers in the Crow's Nest Pass advocating a strike. They have seized on an opportunity to inflame men's minds at a time when there is uncertainty prevailing as to new agreements to replace those which expired on March 31st.

The objective appears not to be so much the welfare of the mine workers as the welfare of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada and to line up the workers under the Communist banner. If the so-called Unity League had something constructive to offer it would doubtless command a measure of public consideration. Instead it says: "You have nothing to lose and (Continued on Page Eight)

The Stumbling Block

Whatever may be the outcome of the naval conference in session in London, and at the time of writing it is still problematical and obscure, the fact that leading statesmen of the world, engrossed, as they are, with many domestic and other problems, are carrying heavy responsibilities, have for months doggedly persevered in their efforts to end common ground upon which a reduction of armaments can be brought about, is, in itself, one of the most hopeful signs for world peace.

Not many years ago such a conference would have, long ere this, broken up in an open confession of failure, with national feelings more embittered than ever, and a still more feverish renewal of warlike preparations on the part of all nations. But in the present conference does not meet the objections raised. When the objections were found to be insurmountable, that formula or plan was discarded, and something different brought forward. Step by step, in sub-conferences innumerable, by direct negotiations between those countries which were farthest apart in their views, difficulties were gradually overcome.

The proceedings of the conference as they have dragged along week after week, have proven the sincerity of the statements made by the various representatives at the opening session, namely, that they and the governments they represent are keenly desirous of reaching an agreement, that they are anxious to make future wars impossible, that they believe in the letter and spirit of the Kellogg peace pact, and to that end are willing to make what they consider sacrifices to achieve a reduction in armaments and a consequent lessening of the possibilities of war and of the burden of taxation imposed upon their people.

This sincerity of purpose has been demonstrated over and over again. When any particular formula or plan was found to be unacceptable in any particular to any one nation, the others sought for amendments that would meet the objections raised. When the objections were found to be insurmountable, that formula or plan was discarded, and something different brought forward. Step by step, in sub-conferences innumerable, by direct negotiations between those countries which were farthest apart in their views, difficulties were gradually overcome.

Just how much has been accomplished, the world does not yet know; perhaps little of a really definite nature. But the whole effect has been beneficial. It is beyond all question that the nations now understand and appreciate each other's viewpoints and difficulties better than ever before, because it is quite evident that the negotiations have been conducted with great frankness, and yet with an absence of that bitterness and ill-feeling which existed in past years. Whatever the present outcome, the way, we repeat, has been paved to ultimate success.

And what is the obstacle to immediate success, assuming that it cannot at this time be achieved? It is that the centuries-old racial dislikes, suspicions, superiority complexes, and religious differences still project themselves and live in this twentieth century of the Christian era. Each and every nation indignantly denies and rejects the idea that they entertain, desire or propose any policy or act of aggression against any other nation. But each and every nation is nevertheless, demanding security against other nations. In a word, while professing their own honesty of purpose, they remain doubtful and suspicious of their neighbors.

Here in Canada we may find it somewhat difficult to understand this attitude, and be inclined to question the sincerity of those who adopt it. But if we pause for a moment and ponder over the problem a bit, we will, perhaps, come to appreciate the European viewpoint somewhat better. And in doing so, we, too, may learn a lesson of importance to ourselves, our communities, and our Dominion.

After all, what is the chief cause of friction, ill-will, bitterness and suspicion right here in Canada, and in our own community? Does it not arise out of differences in racial origin, different languages employed, differing forms of life and through which we worship the same God? Are we not suspicious and distrustful of our neighbors simply because their racial origin differs from our own, because their mother tongue is not ours, because their religious thought and church observances differ from ours? We feel that they should conform to our ideas and ways of thought, and because we feel this, we imagine that they, in turn, are trying to impose their ways upon us.

It is the same European nightmare in a somewhat milder form. We want and demand security. Instead of armies and navies, we place reliance in laws, regulations, prohibitions. France would like all Europe to her way of thinking, Germany to her way. We, in Canada, seem to demand complete assimilation, absolute uniformity. It is the same principle. And it is a principle if persisted in, and carried to its logical conclusion, results in ill-feeling, bitterness and strife, and makes peace impossible of attainment.

A broader education, a truer appreciation of the fact that all men are brothers, that a man's a man for all that, a nearer approach to the spirit of the Christ, is an essential of world disarmament and peace, just as it is an essential of community betterment and national peace and progress. Demands for security which are unnecessary and die when we no longer entertain suspicions and fears of those against whom we would arm in one form or another.

War Restrictions Raised

One of the last remaining relics of the Great War has been abolished by the League of Nations. As the years rolled by and the regulations were not repeated, world trade was seriously hampered.

Noted Flier Performs Thrilling Exploit

Australian Ace Forces Machine To Rise In Forest Clearing

Captain Charles Kingsford D. Smith, the Australian ace who flew from the United States to Australia in 1928, has just performed the most thrilling exploit of his career.

He is now the director of an air line. Recently when one of the company's triple-engine machines made a forced landing in a forest clearing near Bonalbo, Northern New South Wales, it seemed that the plane could be moved only by being dismantled.

Smith went to the scene, repaired the damaged under-carriage, tied the plane's tail to a tree and set his engine going full speed. When the machine lifted from the ground a farmer cut the rope and the plane flashed away like a rocket.

Even then the straining plane, bucking like a broncho, could barely rise above the towering forest trees. A topmost bough tore the fabric from underneath the fuselage and the machine trembled like a wounded bird, but it kept up and Smith got it safely to the airframe.

Drummond Was a Telegrapher

Recalls When Well Beloved Habitant Poet Held Down Night Trick

Dr. Drummond—going out into the parishes of ancient Quebec, attending the sick, listening to old stories and songs, with his eyes and ears always open and his sympathy tuned to catch the simple life of the habitant in its many phases, is a familiar figure in Canadian literature. Not well known in the Drummond of the seventies, before he wrote "The Wreck of the Julie Plante" and the other ditties that have become so well-beloved. In the seventies, Drummond was an undergraduate at McGill College studying medicine and attending lectures all day and at night operating a telegraph key.

"Bill held down the same trick on the Associated Press wire as I did later on," says Thomas Rodger, special representative of the Canadian National Railway's telegraph and telephone department, who has just retired after 55 years' service with the system. "Bill was on the night trick necessarily, as he was attending McGill College during the day." Rodger recalls Drummond's forsaking the press wire on receiving his degree and going into practice and remembers the favor with which the poet received the first book of poems, "The Habitant," "My memoirs."

"I saw Bill Drummond well to the end," says the veteran, "especially as I have so often seen him haranguing with the French-Canadian line-men in the broken French-English patois he used in his writing."

Standing Up Under Loss

Takes More Than Market Crash To Down Canadians

During the recent market crash, paper losses sustained by Canadian listed and unlisted stocks amounted to more than $5,000,000,000. This is more than double the gross funded debt of the Dominion, or $55 per capita.

And yet, with a loss of more than five billion dollars, the people of Canada can go about their business with little more than the embarrassment of feeling sheepish over being had. The truth is that no stock crash can knock the props out from beneath a country that has trillions of dollars in natural resources, both mapped and uncharted.

British Post Office To Provide Direct Wireless Phone Service

Canada and Britain are to be linked by direct wireless telephone. The House of Commons recently debated the respective merits of the Marconi and the British post office wireless systems. Hon. H. B. The direct service will be provided by the post office. Arguing the general merits of the post office system as contrasted with Marconi, the postmaster-general said the lower costs of its airdials enabled it to give three wave lengths to each Dominion. The Marconi system provided two to most of the Dominions and only one for Australia.

NO AID FROM OTTAWA FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

Ottawa.—Ottawa will not provide "a five-cent piece to any Tory government" in any of the provinces for unemployment relief, Premier W. L. Mackenzie King told members of the House of Commons. This attitude was taken by Premier King, when he spoke in the debate that was precipitated by A. A. Heaps (Lab., Winnipeg North). The Labor member moved an amendment to the motion to go into supply, urging that the government take immediate action to deal with the unemployment situation.

The Federal Government is without power to embark upon mere legislation like unemployment relief, for the British North America Act invests the provinces with all jurisdiction in matters of this character, the premier held. His remarks caused a sensation in the House, where the Conservative cries of "shame!" were heard, after reducing taxes and adding to the exchequer since 1921 was not prepared to distribute these savings among the Conservative governments of Saskatchewan, British Columbia, Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Any government headed by a Progressive premier would be looked on with favor in regard to unemployment relief. He said that no request had come from the Conservative governments of Saskatchewan, British Columbia, Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

The prime minister spoke for two hours. He did not believe there existed in Canada at present an emergency which would justify the Federal administration in embarking on any program of unemployment relief or engaging in any scheme of unemployment insurance. There must always be a certain amount of seasonal slackness in outdoor work during the winter months in Canada. That had always been the case and always would be. He did not feel that the Federal Government was called upon to ask the taxpayers to bear a burden which rightly lay on the provinces.

On Monday last, said Prime Minister Mackenzie King, he had moved the House into committee on supply, but Mr. Heaps had moved an amendment requesting the government to act in the matter of unemployment. The House was far from united as to what was in the past would be the phase that had been emphasized was that unemployment was a national problem. He didn't think this could be questioned, but a great deal depended on what inferences would be drawn from it. If it meant a national problem to the satisfaction of the provinces and municipalities, then the point could not be admitted.

There must be, in an endeavor to meet this problem, some division of labor, Mr. King said. The League of Nations may do something to a solution, but its part would be vastly different from that of a municipality. Because it has been conceded unemployment was a national problem, some members had inferred that an emergency existed which the Federal Government should deal with. The Premier asserted, "we have been in touch with the premiers of the social legislation in the form of unemployment insurance had been suggested."

No request from Alberta or Saskatchewan, he said, had been received for unemployment relief. Yet, the premier stated, "we have been in touch with the premiers of the social legislation in the form of unemployment insurance had been suggested."

The premiers of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island had not, he declared, sent any communications for relief. The only request was from "a Tory government" who had come to Ottawa, Premier King said.

There had been no representations, Premier King stated, except from some parts of Western Canada, and chiefly from those who wished to take a certain attitude on the budget debate and desired to indicate that an emergency existed.

Question Of General Election Discussed

But No Official Statement Is Issued For Press

Ottawa, Ont.—The question of a general election was discussed at a recent caucus of the Liberal party.

While no official statement was issued at the conclusion of the meeting, it is understood Premier Mackenzie King stated that he was no more decided whether to hold an election this year or in 1931, than he was three months ago. But, at the same time, it is said the prime minister warned members they should be making preparations and continue to make preparations.

The views of a number of private members were expressed; and, it is understood, that in the course of this discussion a suggestion was made that August 25 next, might possibly be the date for an election.

At The Top Of The World

Folk Get The Blues When It Is Winter In The Arctic

Winnipeg, Man.—All the top-of-the-world folk get the blues when it's mid-winter in the arctic. This is the comment of William Murray, manager of the Hudson's Bay Company post at Herschel Island, off the north shore of Canada. He refers to the brief period when daytime is a generous word for two hours of murky twilight.

From November 26 until January 16, observes Mr. Murray, no sun is visible at Herschel Island. Little or no travelling is done although there is fairly good light at mid-day, when a red glare appears in the southern sky. For days before the sun's return natives stand eagerly on top of their igloos seeking first glimpse of Old Sol.

Menaced By Oil Gusher

Fire Hazard Threatens Lives and Property of Oklahoma

Oklahoma City, Okla.—A great gusher roared like a young volcano in the backyard of Oklahoma City, while men made futile efforts to control a spout of gas and oil unleashed in the rear for riches.

The gusher has driven inhabitants from its environs, deluged the section with a thick coat of petroleum, through which even trucks cannot pull, filling ravines with gas and kerosene and lives and property with a fire hazard.

A pebble, driven by the tremendous flow of gas released into the sky, might strike the spark which would envelop the countryside in flames.

Reserve Bank For Australia

If Established, Will Have Ten Million Dollars Capital

Canberra, Australia.—Hon. E. G. Theodore, Commonwealth treasurer, introduced in the House of Assembly a bill to create a central reserve bank similar to the Central Reserve Bank of South Africa. The bank will have a capital of $10,000,000, drawn from the Commonwealth Bank, and the board will include representatives of Labor.

The proposal marks another step in the Labor government's comprehensive program for reorganization of the economic and financial policy of Australia, a program which also includes a compulsory wheat-marketing pool.

War Reparations

Ottawa.—Canada has received $19,151,436 in payment of war reparations. Hon. Fernand Rinfret, secretary of state, informed the House of Commons in reply to a question from Earl Lawson (Con., York West). The question also asked the amount paid out of reparations for claims awarded by the reparations commission. The reply to this was that no sums were paid out of the amount received for reparations. Payments were paid under the provisions of the reparations payment act.

U.S. Authorizes Commission

Washington, D.C.—The McNary bill to create a commission of three persons to co-operate with Canada in considering the feasibility of constructing a highway to connect the northwestern part of the United States with British Columbia, Yukon Territory and Alaska, was passed by the Senate and sent to the House.

Might Suggest Disaffiliation

Ottawa, Ont.—For Canada to adopt another flag beside the Union Jack might indicate or suggest some dissatisfaction with the present position of this country within the Empire, Robert S. Smith, member of parliament for Cumberland County, N. S., told members of an Ottawa service club.

Famine Takes Heavy Toll

Hundred Die Every Day In Chinese Province Of Shensi

New York, N.Y.—People are dying at the rate of one hundred a day in the plains of the Shensi province in the famine stricken area of China, according to a report received from Mrs. Philip S. Dutton, at Taihu, in North China.

Mrs. Dutton, formerly of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., estimates that at the beginning of summer two-thirds of the population will be dead. The inhabitants, she says, are tearing down their houses and selling the material to obtain money for food. In every yard is a pile of leaves which the owners are eating. When the leaves are gone they will die. Mrs. Dutton says.

STUDY VARIOUS PROBLEMS OF GRAIN INDUSTRY

Ottawa, Ont.—Three fellowships established by the Canadian Wheat Pool to further scientific research in problems of the Western Canadian grain industry, each having an annual value of $1,200 have been awarded by the National Research Council.

As announced the successful candidates are: R. G. Dunlop, B.Sc., University of Saskatchewan, who will undertake research in the Department of Field Crops and Plant Biochemistry of the University of Alberta.

H. B. Sallans, B.Sc., University of Saskatchewan, who will undertake research in the Department of Wheat Chemistry, of the University of Saskatchewan.

C. A. Winkler, B.Sc., University of Manitoba, who will undertake research in the Department of Agricultural Chemistry of the University of Manitoba.

Sixty-five persons have been successful in securing a national research council post-graduate research scholarship, tenable in Canadian universities during the year 1930-31. This year considerably more than twice as many applications were received as there were awards available, says a statement issued recently by the Research Council.

Three classes of post-graduate scholarships are awarded, known as bursaries, studentships and fellowships, having an annual value of $750, $1,000 and $1,200 respectively.

These awards are provided to enable Canadian students who have graduated with distinction from a university to continue their training in science until they have qualified for a Ph.D. degree. They are built up a corps of thoroughly trained research workers for service in Canadian industries, universities and in the technical departments of the federal and provincial governments.

Cosgrave Re-Elected

Retains Presidency Of Irish Free State Executive Council

Dublin, Ireland.—William T. Cosgrave was re-elected by the Dail Eireann to serve as president of the Irish Free State executive council. He thus maintained his ascendancy over Eamon de Valera, campaigner for an "Irish Republic."

Cosgrave who had been defeated by a narrow margin recently on an old age pensions bill, was chosen for his old post by the Dail after De Valera and the Laborite leader, T. J. O'Connell, had been thrust aside in turn.

The successive votes were: For De Valera: 54 for, 63 opposed. For O'Connell: 13 for, 78 opposed. For Cosgrave: 80 for, 55 opposed.

Memory Of Hans Christian Andersen Is Honored At Copenhagen

Copenhagen.—One hundred thousand persons gathered at the town hall here to sing the national anthem in memory of Hans Christian Andersen, writer of fables and fairy stories.

Two Copenhagen officials spoke in English, French and German, commencing Andersen's humble birth 125 years ago, and their words were broadcast throughout Europe.

Members of the diplomatic corps paid homage at the grave to the man who enriched the simple imaginative literature of all lands and paved the way for the modern bedtime stories.

Doukhobors On Rampage

Eight Fanatics Stage Nude Demonstration Sunday by night non-community Doukhobors, who interrupted the preaching of Peter Vengut at the annual meeting of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, at Brilliant, was followed by further disorders Monday night by about 200 who did not go to the extent of disrupting. The provincial police from Nelson were called out to maintain order.

The demonstration resulted in a committee being appointed by the conference to interview the malcontents and offer them a tract of land in the Slocan Valley for their use, provided they would agree to be law abiding, to send their children to the schools, and to pay lawful taxes. This offer was rejected by the demonstrators, who demanded the privilege of living in close association with the community without obligation to pay rates or obey the laws. They were then requested to leave.

When completed this year, the Tuffert-Prince Albert line will give over 90 miles of new road north of the Saskatchewan River extending northwest from the new Nipawin bridge in land so rich in agricultural promise that it is already rapidly being settled up. This branch will be a significant part of the company's lines radiating from Prince Albert. The present contract covers the road from Chocomaud westerly, a distance of 25 miles.

Carried By Large Majority

Jews In Quebec Are Granted Separate School Rights

Quebec, Que.—By a vote of 52 to 5 the Quebec Legislative Assembly approved of giving separate schools to the Jewish people on the Island of Montreal.

Hon. Athanas David, provincial secretary, explained the bill, and said it spoke for the attitude of toleration which this province has always taken as regards minorities. Premier Taschereau made it clear he stands against the neutral school, and for this he also favored the bill. He hoped if Jewish schools are established they will be along lines of good Canadian thought.

LIQUOR EXPORT BILL OPPOSED IN THE SENATE

Ottawa, Ont.—A declaration by Senator Charles E. Tanner, of Halifax, that in his opinion the government bill to prohibit liquor clearances to shipments destined for the United States appeared to have been "dictated from Washington," featured discussion of this measure in the Senate.

The entire time of the Senate during a brief sitting was devoted to discussion of the liquor bill. Senator Tanner occupied the major part of the time in a lengthy speech supporting the Conservative amendment to the motion for second reading.

This amendment which was moved by Senator W. B. Willoughby, Conservative leader in the Senate, said that the bill he read a second time at present, "but that it be referred to a special committee, to be selected by the Senate, for the purpose of first obtaining information as to the effect of the passing of the bill would have on the economic, national and international conditions and relations of Canada."

Sensor Tanner asserted that the bill could commit Canada to a policy of the prevention of liquor export to the United States.

"The more we give these people, the more they want," said Senator Tanner, with reference to the United States. As far as the government of the United States was concerned he considered it both "relentless and selfish." The United States, he declared, always got the best of any bargain that it entered into with Canada.

"Are they taking our interests into consideration in the tariffs they are framing?" asked Senator Tanner, in elaborating on his declaration that the United States consequently looked after its own interest exclusively. "How about the Chicago diversion? Are we getting any nearer to a solution of that?"

Sensor Tanner said that the United States representatives in London today were saying: "Here we are. If you care to come to our terms there'll be an agreement." The senator expressed admiration for the point of view which he attributed to the United States. They were looking after their own interests, and he wished that the government of Canada would take a similar attitude in respect to the Dominion.

There were two other speakers. Senator Nathaniel Curry of Nova Scotia, said he would not vote for the bill. In his opinion withdrawal of Canada's liquor exports from the United States would not affect the situation in that country. Canada exported about two per cent of the liquor consumed in the United States. Illicit manufacturers would very soon make up that deficiency.

BRANCH LINES TO SERVE NEW WESTERN AREAS

Winnipeg.—Covering nearly 90 miles leading into rich agricultural territory in Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Canadian Pacific Railway has just let contracts for grade construction of four branch lines, it is announced by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of western lines.

These touch Chocomaud and Prince Albert, Sominigdale, Rockglen and Leduc. The contracts cover less than half of the railway's present grading program, and it is expected that tenders will be let this month for a substantially increased amount for branch lines.

When completed this year, the Tuffert-Prince Albert line will give over 90 miles of new road north of the Saskatchewan River extending northwest from the new Nipawin bridge in land so rich in agricultural promise that it is already rapidly being settled up. This branch will be a significant part of the company's lines radiating from Prince Albert. The present contract covers the road from Chocomaud westerly, a distance of 25 miles.

Projected by the Canadian Pacific Railway to a large number of farmers who are located south of the Saskatchewan, the Sominigdale line also traverses a rich farming district between Saskatoon and North Battleford.

From Rockglen westerly is a continuation of the company's Fife Lake branch to afford transportation to a district of exceptional agricultural possibilities that is now being settled by British families brought to Canada by the co-operation of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the British Government.

Approximately 20,000 acres have been divided into quarter section farms supplied with the necessary farm houses, buildings, fences, cattle and machinery. Additional contingents of settlers arriving this spring will profit by this transportation advantage.

The connecting of Lacombe and Western lines with Edmonton and Leduc, the Calgary and Edmonton lines, will furnish better access to the Alberta capital for the entire district. In addition, this rounds out the plan for the entire line and makes it suitable for the improved operating conditions now under consideration. The line as now built, will considerably shorten the haul for large numbers now engaged in mixed farming.

Early Seeding Operations

Saskatchewan Farmer Has Sown 200 Acres Of Wheat

Saskatoon.—Here's a record in spring oats for farmers of the West to shoot at. Thomas Wilson, of Harris, 50 miles southwest of here, had sown nearly 200 acres of wheat when his outlays pulled out of the fields recently.

Mr. Wilson, who is one of the "Big Four Farmers" brother, found the soil badly in need of moisture. For a depth of eight inches the land was like powder, he said. A few other farmers in Harris district are seeding. F. Moon, who farms at Greenwood, four miles south of here, has plowed up 20 acres of bromegrass. He plowed four inches deep, and found no frost.

Outrages At Neudorf

Reward Of $500 Is Offered For Conviction Of Offenders

Neudorf, Sask.—The municipality of McLeod has offered a reward of $500 for the conviction of the parties believed to be waging a Vendetta against Louis Wilson, a farmer of this district and his family. Last September, when the farm was in possession of Ulmer's father, four horses and two cows were killed in a peculiarly cruel manner, and subsequently the granary was burned down. 1,400 bushels of wheat being destroyed. Recently two more horses, a cow and a calf were killed outright and four horses badly injured.

Australia Plans Larger Acreage

Melbourne, Australia.—Addition of a million acres to the wheat growing area of the state of Victoria is the aim of the state government. Hon. William Slater, state treasurer, recently announced the associated banks in co-operation with the government are making $1,000,000 available for sowing additional wheat acreage.

All the relics of King Tutankhamen will be removed from his tomb by the end of this year.

will retain its present stand-

the radio, the majority having seen the store window only. The management then went into the local newspapers with small copy calling attention to the radio program which would give details of the sale. Still the response was without a single result."Finally the store abandoned the radio and resumed its advertising with large copy in the news-

British Medical Association

More Funds Required To Finance Big Meeting To Be Held In Winnipeg

The committee of medical men in Winnipeg who are in charge of the arrangements for the meeting of the British Medical Association in that city next summer, have requested Manitoba members of parliament, particularly Dr. J. P. Howden, of St. Boniface, to ask the Federal Government for more financial assistance.

The meeting of the British Medical Association will be an event of historic importance. It is the 24 years since the association met in Canada, the last occasion being in 1906 when the meeting took place in Toronto.

It is estimated that the cost of looking after the delegates, providing entertainment for them and suitable accommodation for their sessions, will be $60,000. It is understood here that this does not cover the expenses of the delegates in any way, shape or form. Each delegate will come from Great Britain at his own expense.

So far the Federal Government has agreed to give $20,000 to the committee. It is believed that the provincial government of Manitoba is giving $10,000. And the city of Winnipeg $10,000. This still leaves $20,000 to be found. The Canadian Medical fraternity are subscribing privately to a fund to be used for the meeting, but it is thought that in order to make the event certain of success a further Federal grant is desirable. Dr. Howden, probably will ask for a supplementary vote of from $5,000 to $10,000.

Summer Tours

National Railways Makes Ready For The Holiday Season

As the sun gains in strength and the days begin gradually, almost tentatively, to put on length, thoughts of summer crop up. With many they are thoughts of golf with others they mean the seashore, the mountains, the woods, the lakes—travel. Escorted tours that relieve the traveller of all the irksome responsibility of details become more and more popular, according to C. W. Johnston, general passenger traffic manager, Canadian National Railways, who was discussing the system's plans for the coming summer.

Seven personally-conducted all-expense tours have already been arranged, he stated, and they will take in all parts of Canada.

Two will explore the Maritimes; four will cross Canada from either Montreal or Toronto, and one from Winnipeg.

The first to get under way will be the Pitman Maritime tour, which will leave Montreal on June 27th, occupying 17 days, the itinerary will take in Quebec, Ste. Anne de Beaupre, Montserrat Falls, as well as all the principal cities and towns of the provinces by the Atlantic. There will be a steamer trip through the Bras d'Or Lakes to Cape Breton, a motor trip of 150 miles through the land of Pongeline, and another hundred miles through Prince Edward Island.

One of the most important tours of the summer will be that organized under the auspices of "The New Outlook," which will leave Toronto June 28th, and will cover 5,000 miles by rail, 1,875 miles by motor, and 350 miles by automobile. Both railways will be used and among the spots to be visited will be Jasper National Park. The "Pilgrims" will travel between Vancouver and Prince Rupert by Canadian National steamer and will also visit the Peace River Country.

The ninth annual personally conducted tour of the Canadian National System will leave Winnipeg on July 2nd, crossing the prairies to the Pacific Coast and including the boat trip along the "Inside Passage."

On July 10 and July 16th, respectively, the Adams and Pitman "Across-Canada" tours will leave Montreal, on the way to Miami, Jasper National Park, Vancouver and the Pacific Coast. The first will be for 24 days and the second 25. Western Canada will also be visited by the Kerr-Bryson sixth annual tour, which is due to leave Toronto on July 9th.

All the salient features of the Maritimes will come before those who become members of the Adams Maritime tour, leaving Toronto on August 6th, and Montreal, August 7th.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

APRIL 13
THE CHILD AND THE KINGDOM

Golden Text: "Suffer the little children, and forbid them not, to come unto Me; for to such belongeth the Kingdom of heaven."—Matthew 19, 14.

Lesson: Matthew 18:1-14; 19:13-15.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 24:1-6.

Explanations and Comments

The Kingdom of Heaven Is Entered

By the Childlike, 18:1-4 In answer to the disciples question, "Who then is greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven?" Jesus called to him a little child (possibly Peter's, if they were in Peter's house at Capernaum at the time), and putting him in the midst of the disciples said, "Except ye turn, and become as little children, ye shall in no wise enter into the Kingdom of Heaven."

The disciples were negative in the last clause is most emphatic; far from being the greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven, they were in danger of never entering it. They must turn from their wrong ambition and jealousy, and become unpretentious, humble as little children. A child has no thought about greatness.

Jesus does not say that the childlike spirit is inherently better than the spirit of the man. He does not promise that it shall possess or govern the Kingdom. He affirms only that it is the condition of entering the Kingdom. It is not that the child is better than the man, but that the child stands at the gate of the ideal and takes the first step toward the Christian character. Docility, receptivity, open-mindedness, the eager listening spirit of the little child, this is the polar opposite of the unteachable, satisfied, closed heart of the Pharisee, and as the latter blocks the way the other things that the former opens it. Better things than childhood has to offer are to be gained through the discipline and stress of life, yet entrance to the Kingdom is attained by no other door than the unspiced, natural, spontaneous spirit of the child, and never a sophisticated and unteachable life will find a shock of surprise that it has lost the key.—F. G. Feabody.

"I forgot you didn't know I was here to supper. I invited myself; and we ate in the front room so as not to miss any of the excitement! I washed the dishes while Grandma got ready for our spree. I tell you, she's some sport!"

Charman joined in his laugh, though what she felt was a sudden desire for tears. She couldn't have said just why, but a wave of tenderness for this old friend had overwhelmed her. Jim was so kind, she told herself. What other man would have washed those dishes just to save her a little trouble? What other man would have jolled an old lady all the evening, when he could have been with the young folks at the church festival? What did it matter if he was a bit under his mother's thumb?

Poebly the young man felt her yielding in some subtle way, for he said suddenly: "The moon will be full tomorrow night, won't it? Will you go for a ride, Charman?"

They both turned at a sound behind them. The new doctor stood in the doorway, hesitating to interrupt, perhaps, but at any rate he came forward bravely and dropped the grey crepe shawl over the girl's shoulders.

"Your grandmother says you'll 'take your death of cold,' he explained, with a grin that made him very boyish; and Charman replied, laughing:

"Did she think I was going to stay out till morning? Good-night, Jim. Thanks for everything; and of course I'll go for a ride tomorrow evening. I'd love it!"

Jim, who had been cursing the innocent doctor beneath his breath, and thinking that Charman hadn't noticed his invitation, went off in such a daze that he barely escaped colliding with a lamp post.

Grandma Davis seemed none the worse for her outing. She was up for breakfast, and eager to hear the news.

"You tell me everything about the supper," she demanded, as Charman poured the coffee. "Did you have a good time, Doctor? And was that Darling girl upset because her young man didn't show up? Did she wear the hat?"

"She did," answered the doctor. "In fact, it was the first thing that caught my eye when we arrived. It's not a bad hat, really, and, as your granddaughter pointed out, it is becoming; but if the young lady was disturbed because you cut her out last night, she concealed it well. Charman threw him a laughing glance.

"Miss Darling found fresh hunting, Grandma," she explained. "Poor Jimmy was forgotten." "You flatter me," retorted the doctor, arising to make her sweeping bow; while Grandma exclaimed as he resumed his seat:

"Do you mean to say that she made eyes at you, Doctor? She must be brazen!"

"Am I so impossible as all that?" he asked reproachfully. Grandma shook her head as she went on: "There you're a doctor, even if you haven't got one foot in the grave yet, and—died!"

"Good Lord!" he cried, disgusted, "I didn't suspect it!"

"For consolation, let me add that you are not too dignified," smiled Charman. "Surely not enough so to resent the advances of—"

"Charman," reproved her grandmother, "you shouldn't talk so—so freely to the doctor. Of course he's dignified. A doctor has to be or folks wouldn't take his medicine. Even Edward Howe is dignified when he's a mind to be; though I remember years ago when—well, maybe it isn't nice for me to tell it, but I remember when he threw a spit ball at the teacher. It was at District Four."

"I venture to guess that the teacher deserved it," said John Carter, his eyes brimming with fun.

"That was the worst of it," went on Grandma seriously, "she didn't, though no one would have guessed it till she burst crying. She'd been snapping the children's heads off for two days, and when Edward threw the spit ball, sort of to relieve everybody's feelings as well as his, it was the last straw. She began to cry, and come to find out her mother was sick and she was worried most to death—afraid to ask leave to go home at that time of year for fear she'd lose her job, and feeling dreadfully. She was so stirred up she just burst out the whole story to us children. I suppose she hardly knew what she was doing, and it was a relief to say what was in her mind."

"Well, you better believe that boy was ashamed of himself. He apologized right before us all. And he put that poor woman on the shoulder, for all the world the way, years after. I've seen him pat his patients when he was sorry for 'em. Mercy! how clear it all comes back! Kate Knowles (she was George Kie's aunt) and the girl that Edward Howe was engaged to later, was crying in sympathy; and so was Lizzie Baker, though she wasn't but six years old. But Deacon Howe was the school board member. Gray's Anatomy. What a horrible title! Do you know, I can help feeling sorry for these shelves, supporting such dry subjects for years and years. I think I'll present you with some detective stories, or something juicy in the way of novels. A risqué volume might be a relief to these poor shelves after being so deadly respectable for fifty years. The splendid power law weighing them down, and now—"

"She sighed despairingly as she brought the dust from 'Oster's Practice,' and held it out. "Bring on your jazz," invited John Carter as he reached for the despised volume. "I dare say I need it, after a pretty steady diet of the other thing. But I believe you and one or two hopeless subjects in that box. Let's empty it here on the desk, and then I'll carry off the packing cases and we can clear up."

When he returned she was smiling over "Peppy's Diary," and remarked wickedly: "I think I'll take this in to Grandma. I'd like to see how she'd react to it, wouldn't you?"

"Hasn't she read it?"

"I don't believe so, and her comment might be valuable! I'm glad to see that you're a devotee of Sherlock Holmes, — and Dickens. I think there's hope for you despite the dignity that Grandma mentioned."

He actually flushed.

"Say, do I put on airs—behave like an idiot or anything?" Charman laughed.

"I seem to have got a 'rise' out of you," she said. "Don't worry. I haven't detected any airs, nor the first sign of idiosyncrasy. In Grandma's day a doctor never appeared in public without a full beard and a frock coat. She was shocked to death when Doctor Howe began to dress like a civilized being and shaved off his whiskers; but in her eyes he can do no wrong. Because he brought you here you'll appear the ideal M.D. to her, dignity and all. That's why she was appalled at the brassiness of— of the green hat!"

"The doctor laughed as he replied: "Poor old hat! It seems to me I'm stirred up a tempest in a teapot."

"It's a new hat," corrected Charman, "and a tempest isn't a patch on what it has stirred up."

He raised his eyes quickly.

Public Danger.

Caught Disease On the HANDS!

This disease threatens on every day. Invisible germs of blood-poison, eczema, etc., are waiting to infect the least cut or sore place. The money you save carries germs—you get them on the handles, rails and straps of the train and street cars, and in a score of other ways. Specially through Zam-buk. Mr. Henry C. Davis, of South 17th Street, Kansas City, U.S.A., has just escaped a virulent type of eczema, contracted, he suspects, through use of public toilets.

"I had medical advice," he says, "and in addition all sorts of so-called eczema remedies, without finding the hoped-for relief. Zam-buk treatment soon gave positive results. It took away the painful irritation, quickly purified and healed the deep troublesome sores."

Mrs. to me, and it don't sound natural. Everybody calls me Grandma, even Edward Howe who was only two years back of me in school. Folks in Wickfield might not know who you mean if you said Mrs. Davis."

"It's very good of you to let me—Grandma," answered the young man, smiling. "It makes me feel like one of the family."

"That's how I want you to feel, sonny," she responded; while Charman laughed and said:

"Is that the way to address a dignified physician? I'm surprised at you, Grandma! Soon as I get these dishes out of the way, Doctor, I'll join you in the office and in the meantime you can carry the biggest bowls up attic. By afternoon you'll be ready for your first patient. Aren't you thrilled at the thought?"

"I shall be more thrilled when he arrives!" answered John Carter. "Here's hoping I don't starve while waiting for him."

"I never was one to be a wet-blanket, but you may as well swallow the fact off that Wickfield folks are set in their ways, and they're used to Edward Howe. Isn't that some one in the shop? I heard the door open. You lend me a hand, sonny, and I'll see to 'em so Charman can get right to work."

A half hour later when Charman looked in at the new office, John Carter was unwrapping a box of his own books and placing them on the shelves.

"I'll lend them to you," she suggested. "You know where you want to put them, and I don't." She glanced at the back of a big volume, and said, so soberly that the doctor laughed: "Gray's Anatomy. What a horrible title! Do you know, I can help feeling sorry for these shelves, supporting such dry subjects for years and years. I think I'll present you with some detective stories, or something juicy in the way of novels. A risqué volume might be a relief to these poor shelves after being so deadly respectable for fifty years. The splendid power law weighing them down, and now—"

"It's a new hat," corrected Charman, "and a tempest isn't a patch on what it has stirred up."

He raised his eyes quickly.

"What do you mean? You sound subtle; and I warn you that subtlety is a quality I can't abide." (To Be Continued.)

London Bus Driver Emigrates

Solves Traffic Jam Problems By Breaking Away To Wide Open Spaces Of Western Canada

It took twenty-one years for A. W. J. Powell, bus driver, to weary of the whirl and roar of London traffic and break away to the great open spaces. But at last he has yielded to the plow, and this spring will find Powell on the land somewhere in the prairie.

His sons had a great deal to do with it. Alfred Arthur Edward, who is twenty, came to Canada in 1926, and liked the country so well that he persuaded a younger brother, William Henry Chasler, to join him the following year. Places were found in Ontario for the two boys by the Canadian National Railways. Their experiences convinced the father that it was time to forsake the bus, and arrangements were therefore made by the European Colonization Organization of the Canadian National Railways for the family to sail for Canada in March. The Winnipeg office will help them decide where to make their future home.

Before leaving London, Powell confessed that he had always had a hankering for a farm.

"I like bus driving first rate, but the traffic jams in London are a bit of a nuisance. The best way to solve the traffic problem is to move out of it, and I'm told there aren't many traffic jams out on the Canadian prairies. I always had in my mind's eye a place of my own in one of the Dominions."

One of the many London bus-drivers who drove London buses in France during the war, and he was one of the forty who went to Buckingham Palace in 1919, to be received by the King.

Line To Churchill

Not Complete Yet

Report Of Immediate Train Service To Churchill Is Denied By C.N.R.

The report which has gained newspaper circulation that the Canadian National Railways will inaugurate regular passenger and freight service between The Pas and Churchill in April is not according to A. A. Tisdale, general manager, western region, Canadian National Railways. The report which emanated from The Pas apparently found its beginning in the intention of the company to improve service in the near future.

Certain supplies which are required by the Government for the construction of dock and elevator facilities at Churchill this summer. The last ninety miles of the line to Churchill received only the last lift of ballast and will have to be given a second lift before it can be turned over by the construction to the operating department for regular service.

Ballasting work can only be done when the weather moderates and it is expected that the line will be ready for the operation of passenger trains until well on into the summer and no scheduled passenger or freight service is under contemplation by the company at the present time beyond mile 226.

With so thorough a preparation as has been made by the company, the manager who allows his children to suffer from the ravages of worms is unwise and culpably careless. A child subjected to the attacks of worms is always unhealthy, and will be stunted in its growth. It is a merciful act to rid it of these destructive parasites, especially when it can be done without difficulty.

Finishes Big Task

Worker-Poor Of 76 Fats Whole Bible Into Verse

The entire Bible has been rewritten into poetry, making 6,000 closely written pages, six sacks full of manuscript, by William Houston, 76 years old, a working man at Cincinnati.

Houston's Bible is a rhymed version of the historic Bishop Bible which dates back to 1537. He has studied all the old Bibles in the Public Library and knows thousands of lines by heart.

His verse is the old-fashioned "rhyme royal," with stanzas of seven lines, and in the quaint English of hundreds of years ago, which he mastered by studies of Chaucer and Spenser.

World's Fair For Vancouver The organization of a World's Fair at Vancouver in 1928, to celebrate the city's golden jubilee, will be undertaken by the Vancouver Exhibition, if approved by the city council. It is announced by J. G. Matheson, general manager.

For any BABY

We can never be sure just what makes an infant restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as Baby has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow.

Scientist Tells Of Possibilities Of New Discovery

Discovery of a new short length wave, that may easily be developed into a death ray, but also may have great curative properties, was announced, at Philadelphia, by E. L. Manning, of the General Electric Company's research laboratories.

Speaking before the Engineers' Club of Philadelphia, Mr. Manning said:

"We have learned to build vacuum tubes which will broadcast such a short length wave that people in the neighborhood will have their blood temperatures raised. This means that we can produce artificial fever and hold it under control, within any limits we choose."

Manning stated that if natural fever was "an attempt on the part of the body to kill off bacteria that attack it, as is believed, this new discovery may prove of startling value in the treatment of diseases."

The ray, Manning said, could easily be used to induce such a high fever in human beings that it would result in death.

"We are experimenting with rabbits and rats," said Mr. Manning, "and the results are most encouraging. Diseases corresponding to those of humans appear to have been eliminated by these artificial fevers," he said.

Combine-Harvested Wheat Combined-harvested wheat in Canada compares very favorably with binder-harvested wheat from a milling and baking standpoint. In general no difference could be observed between the two in regard to these qualities, although in one season at least the combine-harvested wheat was slightly superior to the binder-harvested wheat.

Little Helps For This Week

"Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and He shall sustain thee."—Psalms lv. 22.

Child of my love, lean hard, And let Me feel the pressure of thy care. I know thy burden, child; I shaped it. Pooled it in mine own hand, and made no prop for thee.

In its weight to thine unaided strength: For as I laid it on I said, I shall be near, and while she leans on Me

This burden shall be Mine, not hers. So shall I keep My child within the circling arms Of Mine own love. Here lay it down, nor feel

To impose it upon a shoulder which upholds The government of worlds. Yet closer come. Thou art near enough; I would embrace thy care.

So I might feel My child replying on my breast. Thou lovest Me? I know it. Doubt not then, But loving Me lean hard.

—Paul Feaster.

He that takes his own cares upon himself loads himself in vain with an uneasy burden.—Bishop Hall.

Dishonest Actions

There are some who are mean and dishonest. Complaints have been made of people leaving town without letting those to whom they owed money know they were leaving. Even rent for post-office boxes has been dodged, and those who have suffered from these debt dodgers are considering taking common action against offenders. Such mean individuals deserve to be blacklisted and no credit whatever granted to them.

How Thoughtless!

This is rather good and has a humorous side. A gentleman called at the office requesting some hoisting through The Journal for something he was interested in. He did not wish to spend any cash in purchasing advertising space. Suddenly we remembered that this same gentleman had overlooked us when there was a very nice printing order to be filled. As there is nothing like a little reciprocity in any line of endeavor, business or otherwise, we leave the reader to draw his own conclusions.

COMMUNISTS AT WORK

 Everything to gain by fighting. Unemployment is a problem with which every government is grappling. It cannot be solved by violent measures, by smashing capitalism and organized unions of workers. Germany set out to smash other nations by force of arms into submission, with dire results to that country. No movement can succeed unless it has public sympathy. The experience of the One Big Union, which attempted to force the city of Winnipeg into submission, proved that.
 Carefully scrutinize those who are behind this movement. "Stop, Look and Listen."
